Sylvia Neumaier

It's a funny thing, this recall, and actually it works quite well. Actually! In an environment with no wildlife, no joggers, no cars and no other dogs...

If “actually” is your answer to the question about your dog’s recall, I would like to support you in turning unreliability into reliability.

A reliable recall is not a matter of chance or a lucky gift; we can work on it together. It is the ticket to real freedom for your dog and relaxed, stress-free off-lead walks. But what training options are there when “the child has already fallen into the well”?

We clarify your questions, discover and understand the possibilities, and then experience them: we combine solid knowledge with hands-on training. Explore the colorful variety of options and, together with your dog, reach your goal faster than you might expect.

Dogs learn their whole lives. Learning - or re-learning - is possible at every stage of a dog’s life.

We turn your recall into a real success experience! With solid background knowledge and practical, everyday exercises, we create the foundation for relaxed coexistence and guaranteed moments of happiness.

Relaxation outdoors begins with optimized basic structures at home. Master the art of orientation. We perfect the signal setup, supported by sensible tools all the way to real motivation boosters—we cover every detail.

No more successful ignoring from your dog. Turn the recall into your success story.
